

The following are images provided by Dr. David Langston at the Tidewater AREC showing j-rooting. It is suspected that the good root system is from one lot of seed and the j-rooted system is from another lot of the same variety. These fields were very close to one another and were managed the same other than seed lot. Most of the other possible issues have been ruled out.

